We also attempt to ensure that all interns are afforded extensive opportunities to attend court proceedings. We also attempt to assign each intern to a case that is scheduled to go to trial during the summer, so that the intern will have an opportunity to observe one trial in its entirety if the case does not settle or result in a guilty plea. Practitioners and judges speak at lunch sessions (approximately 5 to 6) during the summer. The interns typically go on a field trip to the FBI in Quantico, Virginia and spend a day at the firing range.
